

FROM WASTEWATER TO WETLANDS

A STUNNING STORY OF RESTORATION FOR BIRDS

THURSDAY APRIL 27TH 7:00-8:00 PM

HAPPY VALLEY STATION 13551 SE 145TH AVE

A Grab a bite and a beverage to enjoy during this FREE talk. More than 30 beers on tap and 12 food carts to choose from.

Restored wetlands can provide powerful wastewater treatment benefits and habitat for a diversity of native species. Fernhill wetlands is a great example, with 90 acres of restored wetlands in the Tualatin River Basin. Learn more about this innovative project from Joe Liebezeit, Portland Audubon's Avian Conservation Program Manager.

RSVP: <http://bit.ly/2nVTrQd>

